

Szymon Dudka

Frontend Developer

I am an IT engineer. I am interested in creating websites / web applications and I constantly develop my development skills by searching the Internet, completing paid courses, watching YouTube videos or reading technological documentation. Programming is my passion, I would like to become a Fullstack developer in the future. I want to gain knowledge and new experience, get to know and explore various solutions. I am ambitious, persistent, I like challenges. You can find the result of my work on my portfolio or GitHub page. I tried to make every project with attention to detail.
